

IFPHK Member's Networking Activity

“House, Tree, Person” Projective Drawing Workshop (18 July)

“Personalities Assessment” could be a profound knowledge which takes years of research, observations and analysis. On the other hand, self perception and attitudes could also be measured through some simple drawings.

“House, Tree, Person” Projective Drawing was invented by John Buck in 1948. By interpretations of simple drawings, aspects of a person's personality, family and personal relations, as well as career projections could be reflected. The Drawing was perceived as a much stronger and more dynamic self expression than words.

Through this workshop, you may penetrate into your inner self; understand your communication and behavioral traits. At the same time, you may use the tools to further share with your peers and enhance personal relationships and networks.
